A Goodly Fellowship

FOREWORD

What things from our school life will be longest remembered and most treasured?

Mount Airy High School boasts, along with high standards of scholarship and behavior, a rare good feeling and cooperation among both faculty and students---a quality intriguingly expressed by Mory Ellen Chose as A GOODLY FELLOWSHIP.

The widely publicized blackboard jungle and delinquent-behavior problem atmosphere of so many schools has gained no head-way here. We are proud of the genuine respect, liking, and helpful spirit that draw us close to each other and to our teachers. We are proud of our Goodly Fellowship!

In this sixth volume of Airmont we present the story of that fellowship--for now and for the future. We hope you like it.

Susie Dobson, Editor
Dorothy Hull, Business Manager

Fellowship With Students

True fellowship is concern. TOP: 1956 students voluntarily gave time to coach failing seniors. The program is continuing this year under the leadership of Dorothy Hull (standing right). RIGHT: Ann Allred and Elaine Hoover, originators of the plan, talk to Miss Holder about points to cover in English.

Students enjoy the activities--curricular and extra-curricular--and associations of school life.

Mr. Johnson, a licensed pilot, finds flying good relaxation from sour notes.

Miss Holder spends an evening doing a two-tone job on English papers.

Mrs. Barringer, Mrs. Mackie, and Mrs. Boyles attend a banquet.

And With Teachers

who also experience fellowship in recreation and in work.

And With Our Community

Mrs. Mary Bayles, Junior Woman's Club member, looks over the latest memorial books donated to the high school library by the local club.

which offers varied training, work experience, fun, and material satisfaction.

Fellowship

That Grows Through

FALL:

School again—new friends added to the old—home work—club activities—sports—crisp, frosty air—a burst of glorious color—mountain mists—burning leaves.

WINTER:

Christmas fun—basketball—exams—Twelve season—sunlight glinting on snow-capped mountains—our own familiar surroundings turned into a fairland of white—neat coats—warm houses.

SPRING:

The last mad rush—banquets—baseball—picnics on the mountain—soft warm air—a glorious green world—added magic—exams again—concerts—plays—graduation—nostalgic good-bys.

The Year

School And Administration

"If we find but one to whom we can speak out of our heart freely, with whom we can walk in love and simplicity without dissimulation, we have no ground of quarrel with the world or God."

-Stevenson, Travels With a Donkey

Principal H. M. Finch

Our Administration Works Hard To

Mrs. Lillian Johnson, secretary to the superintendent, gives cheerful, efficient help.

Mr. Robert M. Smith,
District Association
President for 1955-
56.

Mount Airy was host to the 1956 Twelfth District N. C. State School Boards Association in March. Approximately 200 school officials and board members of five Northwest counties attended the group discussions and dinner meeting--all held at the high school. BELOW: Dorothy Hull conducts a group of visitors on a tour of the high school.

Principal H. M. Finch and Superintendent L. B. Pendergroph discuss a school communication.

Provide Excellent School System

SEATED: W. I. Monday; Moir S. Mortin, chairman; L. B. Pendergraph, superintendent; Marion Burke.
STANDING: S. S. Hennis, Jr.; R. M. Nelson; John B. Wolfe; and R. M. Smith.

SCHOOL BOARD

An expanding school population brings our administration increasing problems in housing, teacher recruitment, and materials. The dedicated, public-spirited services of all--board members, superintendent, and principal--give us a school to be proud of.

Mr. Marion Burke, who joined the school board this year, finds Airmont gives a clear picture of what goes on in the high school.

SEPTEMBER BRINGS NEW SCHOOL YEAR...

Bus drivers change, but their service is familiar and important. Getting ready to "load up" for their afternoon trip home are drivers George Coble, Glenn East, Wade Simmons, Tom Glass, and Dick Parker.

The cafeteria workers do well a hard job. Mrs. Jackson (center) discusses the day's work with Mrs. Beamer, Mrs. Moxley, Mrs. Brickell, and Mrs. Speight.

FAMILIAR FACES AND NEW

ABOVE: John Cashwell, 1956-57 student council president, and Ausiva Mills, president of the class of '56, adjust the clock placed in the library by the 1956 seniors. ABOVE RIGHT: Clara Simmons likes her new books. RIGHT: Principal H. M. Finch confers with Miss Ayers and Mrs. Draughn, two of our three new teachers. BOTTOM: We are soon settled in class again.

Cold frosty air, suspense, excitement, a parade, pretty girls, the last football game of the year----all these made up homecoming, 1956. LEFT: Each homeroom decorated a float for the parade. Stewart Smith, Jane Merrit, Bonnie Sparger, and Jim Baity look at 205's entry with stars in their eyes.

The Bears' 41-13 win over Hartsell High made a fitting background for homecoming and for the crowning of the queen. Queen Yvonne Vaughn (center) and senior attendants Joan Slate and Mary Frances Simpson smile happily.

BRING AUTUMN EXCITEMENT

Annual talent show, sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y, brings fun and entertainment to the students and help to the needy. RIGHT: Polly Kirkman gives a sermon based on "Little Jack Horner" in the talent show.

Cynthia Tillotson, Mary Moore Pulliam, and Jenny Ruth Pruett, first place winners in the talent show, sing "Tonight You Belong to Me."

Martha Jones and Faye Sutphin sort the wealth of food brought in for admission to the talent show. Perishables are added from club treasuries and the well-filled boxes are delivered to homes of the needy for Thanksgiving. Lists of people to receive help are secured from the welfare department and investigated by club members.

Jo Anne Southern delights Stewart Smith as she follows Twirp season tradition, "Ladies pay."

Witnesses and members of the Twirp court jury look on as Leonard Johnson is shot by a guard.

"After you!"
Obeying Twirp season rules, Betty Jo Bray bids Jimmy Pell go before her.

TWIRP SEASON EMPHASIZES

Ishmael Forest (right) finds that crime doesn't pay, as Dan Slate, John Cashwell, John Edinger, Larry Frank, and Richard Vaughn wait for a shine before going to class.

LIGHTER SIDE OF M.A.H.S. LIFE

Serving their sentences, Bette Tilley, Mary Moore Pulliam, and Bonnie Sparger find it doesn't pay to break Twirp season rules.

Band director Charles Johnson and Sylvia Hantzopoulos enjoy the dance ending Twirp season.

Every year at MAHS the second week in February is Twirp season. The boys happily look forward to this week, when the girls pay all the bills, ask boys for dates, and extend all the courtesies ordinarily the responsibility of the boys. A mock trial is held for all offenders of the rules and regulations and tough sentences passed. A Sweetheart dance, at which the King and Queen of Hearts are crowned, concludes the week of fun.

SPRING EVENTS CELEBRATE END OF

On Future Freshman day, eighth graders visit the high school. They attend an assembly held with Mr. Finch and the heads of various organizations there to welcome them and explain the functions of the high school. The future freshmen then go on a tour through the building.

Ann Allred (right) welcomes future freshmen by presenting a copy of Airmont to Brenda Hair, South Main Student Council president.

David McCarty guides wide-eyed eighth graders through the building on Future Freshman day.

Dr. Sylvester Green of Wake Forest College, Beulah Social Standards Day speaker, chats with Bob Tyndall, Ralph Cooke, and Ann Allred. Attended by MAHS honor seniors and basketball players, the annual conference highlights April 11.

"Lead on, MacDuff!" Senior English is not all routine classwork. Miss Holder, Maryann Johnson, Norma Draughn board activity bus for a trip to see a High Point College production of Macbeth.

SCHOOL, PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Senior Banquet is anticipated through the years and remembered with nostalgia. Each spring the seniors hold a banquet at the "Y" prior to the prom. Planned by seniors, with entertainment by seniors, the fun-filled event extends for many through numerous parties following the prom to sleepy breakfast.

ABOVE: Good company and good food make any occasion. The seniors enjoying both include Elaine Hoover, Ronnie Pruett, Gaye Jackson, James Wagoner, Gary Sutphin, Thomas Burrus, and Ann Allred. RIGHT: "It was--adark--and stormy night--." Ausiva Mills, Carroll Baldwin, Ann Allred, and Tim Jessup, trying to smother their mirth, present a skit at the senior banquet.

Spring brings plans for next year. Nancy Bondurant receives help from Miss Holder in signing up for 1956-57 classes on registration day.

"Next let's see the library assistants. Come right on down!" At the last assembly of each year Mr. Finch calls to the front all students who participated in our school's many activities.

CONCERT, FASHION SHOW, BANQUET

Director Charles Johnson leads band in another smash hit concert. Breath-takingly lovely and different sets combined with excellent music to make the annual chorus and band concert a sell-out.

Paris can have its Dior showing; MAHS has its own fashion show! Betty Lou Starr, Helen Steele, and Wilma Smith model fashionable and eye-catching ensembles they made in home economics classes.

"Umm-good!" Yvonne Vaughn, Janice Leftwich, Wilma Smith, Barbara Young, Ann France, Cynthia Tillotson, and Linda Childress, with the confident glow of successful fashion models, enjoy punch and cookies in the home ec. lab.

ENLIVEN SPRING SCHOOL DAYS

Tri-Hi-Y officers for 1956-57 are installed at the spring banquet by out-going officers (right) Eleanor Warren and Claudia Ramsey. Peggy Monday, Dot Hull, Nelda Clifton, Joan Slate, Marilyn Phillips, and Mary Frances Simpson take over club management.

Dr. John Luke, Presbyterian minister, of Glendale Springs, addresses members of Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs at their annual banquet at the "Y".

Hi-Y president David McCarty presents Mr. Charles Johnson, adviser, a string of gifts at Hi-Y--Tri-Hi-Y banquet.

Spring, with its dreamy weather, new clothes, romances, and plans for the future, brings an exciting round of activities.

Concert and fashion show give townspeople opportunities to see the results of hours of class work.

Banquets spice our life with something extra in fellowship and in romance.

The extra hours students put into their preparation make these end-of-the-year events even more memorable.

"BLUE MOON" PROM

Mrs. Neal, junior sponsor, checks the punch table.

Some of the most exciting moons are man-made. Richard Vaughn, Jimmy Pell, Worrell Kurtz, and Edsel Hiatt work on prom decorations.

Refreshments are important, Sue Simmons, Susie Dobson, and Debbie Hauser find as they ready the prom punch table.

HIGHLIGHTS YEAR FOR JUNIORS, SENIORS

Class officers and prom committees form the dance figure to the theme of "Blue Moon."

Ruby Lee sings to Jimmy Meyers' danceable music.

There is more to a prom than the dancing. The invitation committee, Jo Ann Southern, Marilyn Phillips, and Dot Hull, prepare dance books for the long-anticipated prom.

STUDENT ELECTIONS ADD EXCITEMENT

Candidates Debbie Hauser and Dot Hull, with manager Elaine Hoover (center), post campaign material.

Phil Smith and Larry Frank discuss new vote-getting ideas with their campaign manager, Ishmael Forest.

"Who's your candidate?" Spring brings election excitement to M. A. H. S. The student council, involving the greatest number of voters, selects officers first. All juniors with a scholastic average of 85 and citizenship average of 90 are eligible for president and vice-president of student council. From the eligible juniors, five are chosen by the student body as candidates for president. Each of the nominees selects his running-mate and campaign manager.

Winning candidates John Cashwell and Kathleen Simmons happily help their manager, Jimmie Kirkman (center), take down campaign posters.

AND GIVE EXPERIENCE WITH BALLOT

For the next week a friendly battle rages with posters, campaign buttons, and varied political activity. A special assembly program with speeches and stunts climaxes the week. Later in the day the students vote by secret ballot for their choice. The candidate and his running-mate who receive the most votes become president and vice-president of M. A. H. S. for the coming year.

Typical voter Gary Smith debates on his choice for student council officers.

The senior committee, carefully tabulating results of student council election, includes: (STANDING) Ronnie Pruitt, Bud Oliver, and Ausiva Mills. (SEATED) David McCarty, Sybil Llewellyn, Barbara Jester, and Eleanor Warren.

1956-1957 student council president John Cashwell takes the oath of office from Bud Oliver, outgoing president.

SENIORS STAGE SENSITIVE,

"What is the matter with fixing it outside?" demands Sarah Doggett of problem child Kitty, played by Shirley Clifton.

"The door, Kitty," says Thomas Burrus to Shirley Clifton, while Judy Coe straightens the other luggage Angie is taking to college.

Try outs, nights of practice, hours of work on scenery, search for properties, ticket sales, posters--all these go into a highlight of our high school years, the senior play.

The 1956 senior play, Seventeenth Summer, presented Friday evening, May 4, moved along flawlessly with excellent casting and acting.

The audience was caught up and carried along by the spell of the three-act play, which portrays a sensitive young girl's last summer at home before having to go away to college and her first thrills of growing up.

Repeated by request, Seventeenth Summer was presented once before by the class of 1950.

PERCEPTIVE TEEN-AGE DRAMA

Mrs. Sarah Weir, director, talks to play cast. FRONT ROW: Norma Jo Leftwich, Janice Leftwich, Bud Oliver, Shirley Clifton. MIDDLE ROW: Ausiva Mills, Ann Allred, Bette Tilley, Bob Tyndall. BACK ROW: Thomas Burrus, Judy Coe, Sandra Midkiff, Eleanor Warren, Sarah Doggett, Ralph Cooke, and Mr. Ramey, co-director.

Mr. Ramey checks work being done on play scenery by Don Rose, Ann Christian, Hubert McMillian, and Carroll Baldwin.

LAST WEEKS ARE

"Isn't being a senior wonderful!"

Ann Allred helps Frances Haynes measure for her commencement cap and gown amid happy dreams of graduation.

Ann Allred, Miss Simpson, Susie Dobson, and Barbara Jester correct Airmont proofs--the last step before publication.

(BELOW LEFT) "Aren't they beautiful!" Proud staff members, seeing the finished yearbooks at a preview and autographing party at Miss Simpson's, agree they are worth the effort. Shannon Smith, Susie Dobson, Dot Hull, Jo Anne Southern, Ruby Hunter, and Dink Caldwell busily write messages in each others' books.

(BELOW) Shannon Smith, Jo Anne Southern, Dot Hull, Dink Caldwell, and Susie Dobson prepare the newly arrived annuals for homeroom distribution.

BUSIEST AND BEST

Before vacation, comes more work.

RIGHT: Mable McMillian studies hard for exams. CENTER RIGHT: Mrs. McKinney works long and hard grading exam papers for her chemistry, biology, and arithmetic classes.

BELOW RIGHT: Don Rose and Ralph Cooke admire the way Bob Tyndall looks in his cap and gown, as they practice for commencement.

SUDDENLY ANOTHER

Waiting for their last march down MAHS aisles, Roger Haymore, Yancey Beamer, David McCarty, Dan Ellis, Elbert Hall, and Bobby Matthews stand with Mrs. Kate Barringer.

Dr. Moir Martin, chairman of the school board, presents diplomas to the graduating seniors.

David McCarty receives congratulations and his diploma.

(OPPOSITE PAGE) Smiles, tears, and yells mingle as the graduates, holding fast to their treasured diplomas, congratulate each other.

GOOD YEAR ENDS

Suddenly the work and the play of our school year are over. The study, exams, parties, last baseball games, and autographing that filled our spring months are all too soon a part of the past.

The last day of school brings report cards. Susie Dobson congratulates Shannon Smith on her collection of 95's.

WE RECOGNIZE AND

PHIL SMITH
Chief Marshal
DAR History Cup Winner

"Airmont received two top ratings!" Shannon Smith, staff member, and Susie Dobson, editor, happily review the 1956 yearbook's All American rating from N. S. P. A. AND A plus rating from N. S. Y. A.

Betty Simmons, winner of honorable mention in the first-year state Latin contest, reviews her winning paper.

Mr. Haywood Merritt presents the Lions Club essay winner, Louise Morris, with a cup and check. Other winners are second place, Bonnie Pennix; third, Linda Childress; and fourth, Sue Smith.

HONOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS

David McCarty, Barbara Jester, and Elaine Hoover receive scholarship awards for the highest grades.

Bud Oliver receives the award for Best All-round person in the senior class.

M.A.H.S. ROYALTY RECEIVES HOMAGE HOMECOMING QUEEN

Yvonne Vaughn (center) and senior attendants Joan Slate and Mary Frances Simpson.

The Homecoming Queen is chosen by student vote from girls nominated by the football team. In the primary five girls are chosen to compose the Homecoming Court. A second election from the five determines the queen, whose name is not announced until she is crowned at the half-time ceremony.

AT HOMECOMING, SWEETHEART DANCE.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS

PAT BROWN AND OWEN SHELTON.

Each class chooses a candidate for King and Queen of Hearts. From the nominees the King and Queen are chosen by penny votes. The winners are kept secret until the crowning at the annual Sweetheart Dance.

MR. AND MISS MOUNT AIRY HIGH

MR. M.A.H.S.

The sixth annual contest to choose Mr. and Miss Mount Airy High School was sponsored by High Spots in December. Two candidates from the junior and senior classes and one candidate from the freshman and sophomore classes were chosen by the staff on the basis of scholarship, popularity, school spirit, and participation in school activities.

FACULTY
CLASSES

LITERATURE, GRAMMAR, WRITTEN AND ORAL

Drill in grammar; practice in clear thinking, writing, and speaking; knowledge and appreciation of literature--all of these fields are opened to students in our English department.

Bill Jackson and Jean Hiatt examine the parts of an outline as they begin an "all-out" study of composition in senior English.

Mrs. Reece locates the buried treasure for freshmen studying Treasure Island.

COMPOSITION..ALL ARE STRESSED IN ENGLISH

With nineteen regular English classes plus one journalism class the English department has a heavy load to meet the needs of our entire school population. Miss Holder and Mrs. Neal have full English schedules of five classes daily. Three other teachers, Miss Thomas, Mrs. Reece, and Coach Shelton, give part of their time to guidance, civics, or coaching and physical education.

Eleanor Warren cuts cake as English IV students celebrate Shakespeare's 392nd birthday. The cakes (it took two) were short only 390 candles.

"Words are important and interesting," says Scherer James, demonstrating the derivation of guillotine for sophomores.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reece
English, Civics

Mrs. Lavinia Mackie
History II, Spanish

Mr. Sam Moir
Civics, Health

Mr. Arnold Ramey
History III, Geography
Health

Civics students Carolyn Cruise and Oscar Hill search magazines and newspapers for current events.

Heated discussions of current problems; background for present institutions and events; understanding of social, economic, and political trends----all these may be found in our social science classes. Five teachers offer three courses in civics, four in American history, two in world history, one in sociology and economics, and one in geography.

UNDERSTANDING OF PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

In their world history class Eddie Gray and Juanita Morrison use a map of the Roman empire to clarify a discussion. BELOW: Using the supplementary material in their social economics class, Josephine Atkins, Glenn East, Jimmy Cox, Wilma Smith, and Susan Boyd prepare for a discussion of current problems.

Mr. Ramey, American history teacher, explains the Democratic party's policies to Janie Holloway and Jackie Timmons. His adjoining board displays the Republican policies.

Clark Gilbert and George Quesinberry study world problems and how they change national boundaries in geography class.

SCIENCE AND MATH ENROLLMENTS

SCIENCE FACULTY

Mrs. Loraine McKinney
Biology, Chemistry, Arithmetic

Mrs. Maxine Hamilton
Biology

Mr. W. L. Woodie
Physics, General Science, Math

Mr. Woodie, Mrs. Hamilton, and Mrs. McKinney offer ten science classes. An increased enrollment made possible the addition of a third teacher, Mr. Woodie, in the science department this year.

LEFT: Sandra Holder, learning to use a microscope in her biology class, finds seeing the unseen can be fascinating.

INCREASE THIS YEAR

MATH FACULTY

Mrs. Vera Thomas
Algebra

Mrs. Caroline Sydnor
Algebra, Geometry

Mr. H. M. Finch
Trigonometry, Principal

Mrs. Lorraine McKinney
Arithmetic, Biology, Chemistry

Mr. W. L. Woodie
Arithmetic, General Science
Algebra, Physics

Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Sydnor, Mr. Finch, Mrs. McKinney, and Mr. Woodie (inset) offer sixteen math classes (arithmetic, geometry, algebra, and trigonometry). This year enrollment is up twenty in geometry, fourteen in Algebra II.

SHOP AND HOME ECONOMICS PREPARE

Getting the home ec. lab ready for use, Mrs. Shuford dusts and Mr. Williams sands a table.

The major project of this year's carpentry class is the construction of a four-room frame house, which they hope to sell at auction for a profit. Bobby Moody works on the scaffolding.

Draw blue prints, finish furniture, build houses--if these interest you, see the vocational shop department. One instructor, Mr. George Williams, offers one course in mechanical drawing, two in shop, and one in carpentry--a three-hour course.

Leonard Johnson, Jerry Brannock, and Bobby Gwyn work on the planer in their shop class.

Bobby Gwyn, Leonard Johnson, and Bobby Watson work on mechanical drawing.

US FOR JOBS OR FOR HOMEMAKING

One instructor, Mrs. Shuford, offers five classes in home economics. The course of study includes not only cooking and sewing, but also personal relationships, child care, and other problems likely to face the students. Teas, fashion show, and movies spice routine class-work.

Tantalizing odors and the click of pans make home economics students envied. Aloma Brintle sets the table as Susan Goad and Mary Nell Lawson prepare a meal in first year class.

Mrs. Shuford pins the hem in skirt for home economics student Faye Strickland.

Besides her work with students, Mrs. Shuford offers adult courses in sewing and child care.

The fashion show provides a perfect setting for the pretty dresses modeled by Alice Owens, Norma Ricker, and Mary Louise Blue and made as class projects.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE, COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENTS

FOREIGN LANGUAGE FACULTY

Miss Ada Haymore
Latin

Mrs. Lavinia Mackie
Spanish, World History

The language department offers two classes in Spanish and five in Latin. LEFT: Miss Haymore and Mrs. Mackie discuss the use of records in language study.

"Labor omnia vincit." Miss Haymore helps Brenda Hair with her translation.

PREPARE US FOR COLLEGE, FOR WORK

This office practice bulletin board (ABOVE) expresses the ideals of the commercial department. LEFT: Timed writings, combining speed and accuracy, are important for second year students Jo Anne Southern, June Smith, and Roy Lee Smith.

RIGHT: Methods of duplicating are demonstrated by Mrs. Boyles to Melvina Clifton. BELOW: Mrs. Draughn, Mrs. Boyles, and Miss Ayers check office equipment.

COMMERCIAL FACULTY

Mrs. Mary Boyles, Mrs. Margaret Draughn,
Miss Mattie Ruth Ayers

Fourteen classes, including general business, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and office practice, are offered in the commercial department.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION, MUSIC, LIBRARY

Three teachers divide five classes in health and physical education, offering both classroom and field work. LEFT: John York and Charles Smith examine the health poster. BELOW: Mr. Shelton, Mr. Moir, and Mr. Ramey try out equipment.

STUDENT COUNCIL DOES GOOD

Mrs. Kate Barringer advises President John Cashwell and Vice-President Kathleen Simmons concerning parliamentary procedure.

The chief duties of the Student Council are to keep the building clean and to see that everything runs smoothly. The council is made up of two members from each home room and the heads of the various organizations of the school. They meet once a week to discuss problems that arise and to make decisions regarding them. This year the council sold pennants and ballpoint pens, sponsored sock dances, and chartered buses to out-of-town football games.

JOB ON SCHOOL NEWSPAPER

Classwork, night and Saturday afternoon sessions with the adviser, town canvass for ads, home-room solicitation for subscriptions, hours of proofing at the printers, miles of leg work wherever there's a story, endless writing, polishing, and typing-----all these make our school paper.

High Spots has built a reputation for thorough and lively coverage and for excellent writing of a professional quality.

The journalism class is made up of select senior English students. Editor and associate editor are elected by the rising seniors in the spring.

"We're 100% again!" Peggy Smith shows that MAHS again lives up to its tradition of 100% subscription to High Spots.

AIRMONT STAFF WORKS AROUND THE YEAR

Those doing the work know a good yearbook doesn't just happen. Raising funds, taking and editing pictures, writing and polishing copy, preparing layout and dummy, typing, copy-reading, checking--all these are details that only staff members are aware of.

Work on the next book is started as one edition goes to press. Spring and summer work was intensified with the beginning of school -- and with the news of 1956 Airmont's All-American and A plus ratings.

BELOW: Shannon Smith and Ruby Hunter identify pictures and check dummy. BOT-TOM: Sue Smith and Susie Dobson happily open repaired flash. Headaches reappeared when it still failed to work.

TO LIVE UP TO TOP RATED BOOK

Members of the Airmont Staff: BOTTOM ROW: Dorothy Hull, Shannon Smith, Louise Morris, Annie Lee Marsh, Sue Smith, Garnet Hennis. TOP ROW: Joe Johnson; Susie Dobson; Miss Simpson, advisor; Ruby Hunter; Roland Jones; Sam Inman; Marilyn Phillips; and Jo Anne Southern.

RIGHT: Typists Jo Anne Southern and Marilyn Phillips work hard to prepare copy and index.
BELOW: Photographers Joe Johnson and Sam Inman study photographic manuals.

OFFICE PAGES FILL RESPONSIBLE

The efficient operation of school routine is aided more than people realize by the helpful work of office pages. These students give up their study periods to help students, teachers, and administration.

Left: Betty Jo Bray, Margaret Jarvis, and Clara Simmons keep the office during third and fourth periods, take calls, deliver messages, and keep bells on schedule.

Right: Second period pages, June Martin and Kenny Watson, place mail in the teachers' boxes.

Below: Paul Shelton types the absentee list as Betty Lou Starr and Patsy Clifton check homerooms and excuses.

POSITIONS COURTEOUSLY AND WELL

Telephoning absentees, compiling lists, taking calls, checking money, locating students, sorting mail, running errands, greeting visitors--these activities keep pages busy.

Right: Mildred Robertson, June Smith, and Ann Childress, office pages during activity period, mimeograph absentee lists for the day.

Left: Mrs. Anne Holyfield, Betty Simmons, and Dink Caldwell check announcements on the bulletin board. Mrs. Holyfield helps in the high school office one hour each day.

Below: Fifth period pages Worrell Kurtz and Peggy Haynes check paper and pencil money.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

"Sign here."
 "You'll find that book in the 400's."
 "Let's try the card catalog."
 "Here's your permit."

Student librarians are kept busy by a variety of jobs. In addition to carding, shelving, and checking out books and signing permits, they type, file, prepare new books, work on bulletin boards, do housekeeping chores, and help students locate materials.

The thirteen assistants do much to make the library smooth-running and helpful. Three have worked in the library for three years; two are serving for the second year.

TOP: Margaret Hodges and Bonnie Tickle, library assistants, help with typing.

CENTER: Martha Carroll and Mable McMillian, first period assistants, replace books on shelves.

RIGHT: Pat Hodges, Nancy Collins, and Bobby Smith eagerly unpack new library books.

DO IMPORTANT JOBS WELL

Librarians work and play. A coke party breaks the routine of spring inventory for these 1955-56 assistants: Martha Carroll, Mary Moore Pulliam, Ann France, Betty Jo Bray, Margaret Hodges, Peggy Smith, Dean Brown, Marilyn Phillips, and Melvina Clifton.

Elizabeth Bondurant joined the activity period assistants.

Activity period keeps everyone busy. Margaret McCann, Vera Carl Thomas, and Margaret Hodges card and check out books and sign permits.

HI-Y OFFERS FUN AND SERVICE

New Hi-Y officers--Phil Smith, president; Kenny Watson, secretary; Roland Jones, vice-president; Dan Slate, treasurer; Paul Shelton, chaplain--are installed at annual Hi-Y-Tri-Hi-Y banquet.

Phil Smith and Gene Pruett load Thanksgiving boxes on the band wagon for delivery.

The Hi-Y, composed of junior and senior boys, is a leading organization in school. The club co-operates with the Tri-Hi-Y on devotions, talent show and food distribution, and the Christmas and Easter programs. In addition the Hi-Y sponsors sale of refreshments at basketball games, Twirp season activities, and New Years and other dances.

Delivery man Ausiva Mills examines David McCarty's toy train in the Christmas play.

Carroll Baldwin, lawyer, is threatened by guards for helping the defendant in Twirp season trial.

TRI-HI-Y KEEPS MEMBERS ON THE RUN

The Tri-Hi-Y, made up of junior and senior girls, is one of the most active and interesting clubs in our school. The club is divided into four groups, whose activities include talent show and food distribution, homecoming activities, Christmas assembly, Sweetheart Dance, Halloween carnival, and devotions. Bake sales and sales of candy and sweaters help finance club work.

Diane Simmons sings for the talent show. Club members board the band wagon to distribute food.

Judy Coe and Thomas Burrus furnish the romance in the annual Hi-Y-Tri-Hi-Y Christmas play.

Monday morning devotions is the project most dear to Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y members. Dorothy Hull heads the program for the Tri-Hi-Y.

CLUB ACTIVITIES BRIGHTEN

LATIN CLUB

FRONT ROW: (officers) F. Mills, G. Yokley, C. Vaughn, S. Smith, R. Hunter, E. Burke, V. Gwyn. SECOND ROW: Miss Haymore, C. Woodie, R. Chilton, S. Holder, C. Edinger, P. Simmons, A. Monday, K. Huffman, S. Midkiff, J. D. Paul, M. Simmons. THIRD ROW: J. Fleming, M. McCann, S. James, E. Bondurant, L. Mills. FOURTH ROW: J. Gilbert, B. Campbell, T. Barber, T. Clark, T. Vaughn, E. Hemrick, F. Lowry.

Joe Johnson triumphs over Tommy Mayberry when they engage in combat at the Latin club banquet.

The Latin club meets each month and sponsors a Latin week in the spring.

Posters, Latin mottoes over classroom doors, and Roman costumes created interest in the annual observation held April 16-20.

The week was highlighted by a slave auction, at which first year Latin students were sold to club members, and a banquet served Roman style. RIGHT: Freddy Schafer, a slave at the Latin club banquet, holds the program for Vera Carl Thomas and Mary Moore Pulliam to read.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE WORK

SPANISH CLUB

FRONT: Stewart Smith, Bonnie Edwards, Barbara Carpenter, Faye Bennett, Michael Blackman, Betty Hiatt, Clara Simmons, Jean Hiatt, Verona Sechrist, Martha Carroll, Gary Smith. BACK: Reginald Davis, Franklin Hawks, Audrey Ferguson, George Williams, Paul Shelton.

Second year Spanish students look forward to club programs each month. At club meetings they study South American countries and customs, play games, and sing Spanish songs.

Once a year they give a Spanish party and invite first year students. The 1956 party was held in the band room of the high school in March.

Reginald Davis and Bonnie Edwards enthusiastically entertain with the Mexican Hat-Dance.

At the annual party a skit presented in Spanish is always featured. Norma Draughn, Barbara Jester, and Maryann Johnson display their knowledge in this scene.

CLUBS ADD INTEREST,

The chief activity for the Monogram Club and the Girls Athletic Association is sponsoring the Mount Airy Horse Show, held each summer. Club members solicit advertising and run concessions. The 1956 show, as a result of their efforts, proved quite successful. It included 125 entries and netted the school $1,100. The money was used for financing the summer athletic programs, for purchasing cheer-leader uniforms, and for other athletic needs. LEFT: Mr. F. L. Hatcher's horse Lenoire is a familiar entry in the horse shows.

Barbara Younge, F.H.A. president, puts finishing touches on the exhibit that won third prize at the local fair.

GLEE CLUB BRINGS US PLEASURE,

The chorus is made up of two regular classes that meet for one period each day. Extra night sessions bring together voices from both classes.

Besides the anticipated school programs, the glee club appears before civic, church, and school groups. For several years a local radio station has broadcast a weekly glee club program from the high school. This year their ability to do the Messiah gained the group a TV spot.

The band and glee club spring concert is one of the most looked-forward-to events of the year for both students and townspeople. RIGHT: Mr. Johnson and Hubert McMillian work on lights for the elaborate set. BELOW: The lovely Peter Pan Suite worked in well with the religious and the light portions of the program.

MAKES FRIENDS FOR THE SCHOOL

The 125 voice chorus represents a sizeable portion of our student body and speaks well for the musical ability and appreciation of MAHS students. RIGHT: Betty Jo Bray serves as glee club president.

WE ENJOY THE FELLOWSHIP

The Mount Airy High School Band adds to the good fellowship of school and civic affairs. Continuing to grow in spite of heavy graduation losses, the band has 77 members this year.

The group meets daily as a class and holds extra practices on the field each night during football season. The results delight football fans. Also among the band's activities are numerous appearances before civic groups and city and county schools, and--this year--a trip to the Shrine Bowl game in Charlotte.

Heavy civic backing enabled the band to enjoy a trip to Washington after school last spring. This year all members are working hard for a trip to Florida in late May.

Majorettes Mary Ruth Vogler (chief), Camille Combs, Patsy Vogler, Debby Douglas, Peggy Vogler, and Cynthia Tillotson add color to the band's appearances. Long hours of practice go into each routine of the majorettes and of the band.

PROVIDED BY OUR PERSONS OF NOTE

Our band provides us with pleasant interludes and adds prestige to our school.

Director Charles Johnson heads the band for the sixth year. He has done an excellent rebuilding job.

George Coble, band president, heads an enthusiastic group. They put on sales as well as shows.

The Bears gave us a record team this year. A record number of boys--eighty-six--was out for football. They started the season with five straight shutouts--also a new record. Losses, though few, came where they most hurt, putting Mount Airy in a tie with Tri-City for third place in the conference. Our 205 points against 71 for our opponents is a proud record.

Coach Sam Moir and Captain Owen Shelton receive the district AA trophy from Mr. C. R. Joyner, Reynolds principal and member of N. C. High School Athletic Association's Board of Control.

Kenneth Norman, 6' 5" forward, displays the form that made him a star in the district and state tournaments and won him the Rees Most Valuable Player award.

BRUINS WIN DISTRICT CROWN,

1955-56 was a victorious basketball year for the Bruins. Fighting hard all the way, Coach Moir's boys, after finishing the district race in a second place tie with Mineral Springs, went on to make a fine showing in two tournaments.

The Bruins captured the District I AA title and a berth in the state playoffs at Enka by beating Mineral Springs 67-49 in the finals at Reynolds Gym in Winston-Salem on March 3rd. Earlier in the tournament Mount Airy had defeated Reidsville 61-47 and Griffith 74-49.

A week later the Bruins placed third in the state AA tournament at Enka by defeating Roxboro 56-55 and Clinton 67-61. Mount Airy's only defeat was a 92-82 loss to Kinston, state champions, in the semi-finals.

Owen Shelton exhibits his excellent defensive play.

Jack Smith uses his famous jump shot to score for the Bruins in the district AA tournament. Jack's field goal against Roxboro gave M. A. H. S. a one-point win to stay in the state play.

BRUINS

The Granite Bears begin the season confidently and in good condition. The team has experienced boys but is hampered by the lack of height Ken Norman and Jack Smith furnished last year. Probable first stringers include Moody, Gwyn, Frank, Thomas, and Baity. Bobby Gwyn captains the boys.

OUR FELLOWSHIP EXTENDS TO MANY FIELDS

Dances, athletics, routine activities, and special events--all make up our "Goodly Fellowship."
LEFT: Sue Simmons and escort Russel Smith enjoy formal dance.

Room 105 intramural team admire the 1956 trophy held by David McCarty.

Betty Simmons watches ping-pong battle of Richard Vaughn and Jimmy Pell against Linda Worrell and Peggy Smith.

Classroom fellowship.

Nancy Thomas, Dink Caldwell, and Shannon Smith display flags.

OUR FINAL WORD

Editor-Susie Dobson
Business Manager-Dorothy Hull

In this sixth edition of Airmont we have tried to present a true picture of the fellowship at our school. We want to express our deep gratitude to all of our friends--the students, faculty, and advertisers--who have made this possible. We hope you like "The Goodly Fellowship" and will cherish it forever.

Shannon Smith draws a lay-out.

First Row: Jo Anne Southern, Marilyn Phillips, Roland Jones, Shannon Smith, Peggy Vogler, Louise Morris. Second Row: Annie Lee Marsh, Sam Inman, Joe Johnson, Ruby Hunter, Sue Smith, Garnet Hennis.

" and the best that we find in our travels is an honest friend. He is . . fortunate . . who finds many. We travel, indeed, to find them. They are the end and the reward of life. They keep us worthy of ourselves; and, when we are alone, we are only nearer to the absent."

- Stevenson, Travels With a Donkey

Our Goodly Fellowship At M.A.H.S.
